Are you interested in working and studying in Australia?

Then let’s build your career with HOCHTIEF!

This is your chance to be part of an annual exchange program, starting in October 2018, that combines practical with theoretical experience. This program gives a civil engineering student from RWTH Aachen University the opportunity to study one term at Queensland University of Technology in Australia and to gain four months of work experience with CPB Contractors, a company of HOCHTIEF’s subsidiary CIMIC.

HOCHTIEF is one of the world’s leading construction groups. Its focus is on complex infrastructure projects, many are based on concession models. HOCHTIEF additionally develops and operates real estate and facilities. With its global network HOCHTIEF is present in the world’s major markets.

CPB Contractors is the CIMIC Group’s construction company, with a team of around 23,000 people working at operations across Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Asia and India. It combines the construction track record and expertise formerly delivered by Leighton Contractors and Thiess. CPB Contractors delivers major projects across all key sectors of the construction industry, including roads, rail, tunnelling, defence and building. CPB Contractors shares the CIMIC Group principles of Integrity, Accountability, Innovation and Delivery. Safety underpins everything they do.

We give you the possibility to bring in your knowledge in an interesting, multi-faceted field of work and to extend your professional and personal skills in a wide range of engineering tasks. Exciting projects are lying ahead of you. All you need is a visa, a flight ticket and some luck!

Our requirements:
- You have successfully completed two thirds of civil engineering studies at RWTH Aachen
- You have practical experience on a construction site
- Your English is fluent
- You like to work in a team, you are open-minded and proactive

We are looking forward to your application. Please send your complete documents to uta.dietz@hochtief.de by 16th February 2018 at the latest.
